The total estimated cost of the bi - annual project for the enhancement of Vasantham TV channel so that Sri Lankan Tamil speaking subscribers would be able to visualize clear broadcasting as well it will be able to produce and telecast local Tamil programmes amounts to Rs. 304 million. Coverage could be escalated by upgrading Jaffna transmission centre during the year 2019. 2.2 Challenges

2.2.1 Introduce digital transmission technology to Sri Lanka

A timely requirement has been emerged to introduce the enhanced digital technology developed under new technological conditions by most of the countries of the world for the television sector instead of the Analogue technology being implemented in the Sri Lankan context. Since analogue technology is being wiped out, it would be difficult to maintain the broadcasting equipment run with the analogue technology in the future. Moreover, introduction of digital technology may pave way to efficiently utilise new frequency levels while through the frequency levels transmit the telecasting more channels can be broadcasted reducing a massive operational cost.

2.2.2 Upgrading professionalism of journalists

In the present context, the role of mass media has become a very powerful and a decisive factor in economic, social and political perspectives. Mass media positively contributes in familiarizing the public with information and thereby assisting the maintenance of good governance.

It is essential to build up a free, independent and public centered media culture in ensuring and upholding the democracy in Sri Lanka. For this purpose, a greater contribution is expected on the part of the journalists in strengthening the processes of good governance and democracy and therefore it is evident that a professionally empowered journalist community is required to establish a pluralistic and open media culture within the country. However, during the last two decades, the establishment of an institution for producing professional journalists has not been materialised.

Since media is accountable to the society, it is proposed to establish a national institute which will perform the social responsibility of realizing the excellence of ultimate media practice by producing professional journalists in keeping with relevant media ethics while ensuring the maintenance of its highest standards.

With the rapid changes taking place in the field of media due to the development of sophisticated technology and global trends, the need has arisen for the establishment of an institute of continuous education in order for the professional development, capacity building and improving skills in adopting such changes. Accordingly, the establishment of the proposed Institute of Media is of utmost importance.

2.2.3 Introduction of an unbiased rating system for broadcasting

Broadcast rating influence and determine much of the radio and TV advertising spending, especially by large corporate advertisers. As such, the ratings data have a disproportionately high level of control over the economic viability of broadcast stations as well as on their programme scheduling decisions and content creation action.

Ratings did not exist when there were only state owned radio and TV channels in Sri Lanka. They emerged a few years after the broadcast sector being liberalized for private company participation. Currently, companies offer ratings widely used by advertisers and some broadcasters remain unhappy with their methodologies and outcome of the ratings process. An unbiased rating system should be introduced through the Ministry of Mass Media.

2.2.4 Implementation of Broadcasting Regulatory Act

It is strongly observed that an independent institution for handling both state or private media institutions is required when considering the changes being occurred in the technology and the legal spheres, the informality in the mechanism prevailing in the issuance of licenses, the problematic circumstances in the licenses issued as well as the behaviour of the media in certain circumstances in the past.

2.3 Future Targets

- i) Implementation of required regulations for creating a responsible and accountable media culture so as to ensure media independence.
- ii) Enhancing the access to information for all the citizens in the country.
- iii) Equip the journalists with knowledge and experience.
